The

ROLOLOGUE

THE GREATNESS OF A UNIVERSITY IS MEASURED BY THE MEN IT PRODUCES AND BY THEIR CONTRIBUTIONS TO SOCIETY. SEWANEE HAS PRODUCED MANY MEN WHO HAVE MEASURED UP TO THE VERY HIGHEST STANDARDS. FIVE REPRESENTATIVE MEN ARE HERE PRESENTED AND HONORED, EACH OF WHOM WILL OPEN ONE OF THE FIVE DIVISIONS OF THIS ANNUAL. IT IS A SIGNIFICANT FACT THAT ALL THESE MEN HAVE SPENT THEIR LIVES, NOT IN ACQUIRING FOR THEMSELVES, BUT IN FINE GIVING OF THEMSELVES, THEIR KNOWLEDGE AND THEIR WISDOM. SEWANEE HAS REASON TO BE PROUD OF THE MEN SHE HAS PRODUCED AND THE RECORD SHE HAS MADE. TRULY, SHE MEASURES UP TO THE STANDARD REQUIRED OF A GREAT UNIVERSITY.

AN UNUSUAL OCCURRENCE TOOK PLACE IN WASHINGTON, D. C., WHICH SHOWS THE RESULT OF SEWANEE'S INFLUENCE IN NATIONAL AFFAIRS. FOUR MEN MET IN THE NATION'S CAPITAL. ONE WAS THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES, THEODORE ROOSEVELT. TURNING TO MAJOR ARCHIE BUTT, '86, HIS AIDE, HE SAID: "BUTT, WHERE WERE YOU EDUCATED?" "SEWANEE, SIR," SAID BUTT. DR. CARY T. GRAYSON, '03, LATER ADMIRAL AND PERSONAL PHYSICIAN TO PRESIDENT WILSON, WAS ONE OF THE OTHERS. HE SPOKE UP: "I WENT THERE, TOO." ROOSEVELT TURNED TO THE THIRD MAN, THE MAN WITHOUT WHOM THE PANAMA CANAL COULD NOT HAVE BEEN BUILT, GENERAL WILLIAM C. GORGAS, '78. "AND WHERE WERE YOU EDUCATED, GORGAS?" THE PRESIDENT ASKED. "SEWANEE, SIR," CAME THE ANSWER. THE PRESIDENT WAS DEEPLY IMPRESSED. HE MADE MANY INQUIRIES ABOUT THE LITTLE UNIVERSITY WHICH PRODUCED BIG MEN. THEN HE WROTE: » »

"I DO NOT KNOW OF ANY INSTITUTION OF THE SAME SIZE IN ANY PART OF OUR COUNTRY WHICH HAS DONE MORE FOR THE CAUSE OF GOOD CITIZENSHIP THAN SEWANEE HAS DONE. AS AN AMERICAN I AM PROUD OF IT; AS A CITIZEN I AM GRATEFUL TO IT. IT IS ENTITLED 'THE UNIVERSITY OF THE SOUTH,' BUT IT IS MUCH MORE THAN THAT: IT IS A UNIVERSITY OF ALL AMERICA, AND ITS WELFARE SHOULD BE DEAR TO ALL AMERICANS WHO ARE BOTH PATRIOTIC AND FAR-SIGHTED, AND THEREFORE ANXIOUS TO SEE EVERY INFLUENCE STRENGTHENED WHICH TENDS FOR THE BETTERMENT AND FOR THE ENLIGHTENMENT OF OUR GREAT COMMON COUNTRY." » » » » » »

THE PASSING OF BISHOP GAILOR ENDS

SEWANEE'S BISHOP GAILOR

• Governor Hill McAlister of Tennessee reading an address in honor of Bishop Gailor at the Gailor Celebration.

Sewanee prizes personality. That she values, and given time and a receptive spirit, that she ultimately awakens, fosters and perfects. The finished, rounded product, a completely unified personality, is the goal of her striving, the very reason of her existence.

Few of the many personalities that Sewanee has nurtured stand out so vividly or express her genius so generously as that of our revered and beloved Thomas Frank Gailor. No one, perhaps, has so appealed to the imagination of generation after generation of Sewanee men as he; none has carried so far or commended so graciously the spirit and the glory of our Alma Mater. For more than half a century his home (not always his official residence) was on his beloved mountain. For more than half a century of his radiant manhood he was vitally associated with the institution which he helped to make, for he was indeed one of the proud makers of Sewanee. As teacher in the college, as professor of theology, and as chaplain; then successively as Vice-Chancellor,

Chancellor and Chairman of the Board of the Trustees and the Regents, he influenced the policy of the University; he gave direction to its thought and filled its life from the rich treasure-store of his own intellectual and spiritual gifts. Bishop Gailor appealed to the imagination of Sewanee because he exemplified in his life the ideals for which Sewanee stands, as he absorbed, comprehended and interpreted those ideals.

Sewanee, too, appealed to the imagination of Tom Gailor. Coming to the University of the South at the age of twenty-four, he found a wide domain of unkempt mountain land, a few rough wooden buildings, a rambling and much-patched chapel, and a small community of ardent professors; a place, indeed, "where people of eminent respectability dwelt together in cheerful poverty." But Mr. Gailor brought with him a boundless store of faith, a spirit of buoyant hope, an irresistible Irish humor and eloquence, and unconquerable zeal. To him "the things that are not are as though they were," and he saw in vision "a city that hath foundations, whose builder and maker is God."

What he envisioned in imagination he aspired to achieve in reality. It was always the Sewanee that is to be that he dreamed of, though he valued and shared and nurtured the Sewanee that was. Never did his idealism outrun his realism. So in patience and in faith he took things as they were, lived and enjoyed and hallowed them, yet ever strove to make them as they would be. For our hero loved life, and lived it abundantly, courageously, and joyously. A fine athlete, he encouraged and participated in manly sports. A man of parts, he was widely read and deeply cultured. Promoted to the highest ecclesiastical position, he never lost his wholesome humanity or exhibited the taint of ecclesiasticism. As pastor, preacher and man of God, Sewanee knew him best and loved him most.

His two passions were the Truth and the Christ, and these two were one. He sang:

*"Christ and the Truth the same—
This is Sewanee's aim!
Name above every name,
Ring it with loud acclaim."*

• The picture to the right was taken during the Gailor Celebration in 1933, when Bishop Gailor was honored by the notables of America and England. Admiral Cary Grayson represented the President of the United States. This picture is of the procession at the Celebration.

The Board of Regents is the executive committee of the Board of Trustees and has all of that body's powers when it is not in session. The members of the board are elected by the trustees, although three of the laymen are nominated by the Associated Alumni. The body is composed of three bishops, three presbyters, and ten laymen. It may deal with any matter of business concerning the University, but its duties are chiefly financial. The meetings are held three times a year with the Chancellor presiding.

C H A N C E L L O R

THE RT. REV. THEODORE
DUBOSE BRATTON

*Chancellor of the University
Bishop of Mississippi*

The Chancellor of the University of the South, the Right Reverend Theodore Dubose Bratton, Bishop of Mississippi, is the ninth man to hold that position. He was called to the chancellorship in the fall of 1935 upon the death of Bishop Gailor by virtue of the fact that he was the Senior Bishop.

As a man closely associated with Sewanee throughout his entire life, Bishop Bratton is indeed a fine person to hold the supreme authority of the University. His connections with Sewanee began in his early youth when he attended the Sewanee Grammar School. From there he entered the Academic Department and then went on into the Theological School. Besides these facts his family ties have been for many years with Sewanee and the University of the South.

Bishop Bratton is an outstanding man in many respects. His experiences have been widespread and his intellectual achievements have been great. As a splendid gentleman, a scholar, and our new Chancellor, the student body salutes you, sir.

VICE-CHANCELLOR

DR. BENJAMIN FICKLIN FINNEY
Vice-Chancellor of the University

Dr. Benjamin Ficklin Finney has served as Vice-Chancellor for fourteen years. During his incumbency Sewanee has grown and carried on its ideals to a very high point. Sewanee to Doctor Finney is his very life. He has given unceasingly to the University and the students cannot sufficiently express their gratitude for all that he has done. A position such as his is a difficult one, but there will probably never be another person who will so endear himself to the hearts of the Sewanee students as Dr. Finney has done. Dr. Finney has made himself such an integral part of Sewanee by his grand sense of humor, his generosity to one and all, his interest in Sewanee and her boys, to say nothing of the delightful time he helps us show our girls during the dances. To Dr. Finney goes a toast—"The True Sewanee Gentleman."

D E A N S

DR. GEORGE M. BAKER

Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences

Dr. George Merrick Baker has been Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences since 1920. He has been a true friend to all of the boys who have attended Sewanee during that time. His pipes, his German classes, his delightful sense of humor, and last but not least, his golf game have all made Dr. Baker a most popular dean.

DR. CHARLES L. WELLS

Dean of the Theological Seminary

Dr. Charles L. Wells, Dean of the Theological Seminary, is one of the best loved men in all Sewanee. As a scholar he is brilliant, as a teacher he is widely influential, as a friend he is cherished by all who know him. There are few in Sewanee who equal him in holding the esteem of his fellow man. As Dean of the Theological School, his work and inspiration have been great factors in the school's development.

ALPHA TAU OMEGA

Alpha Tau Omega was the first fraternity established after the Civil War. Founded at Richmond, Virginia, in 1865, the Alpha, or "Mother Society," was placed at the Virginia Military Institute at Lexington, Virginia. It was projected as a national organization which should know no sectional bounds, and was the first Southern fraternity to maintain successfully chapters in the North. The first Northern chapter was chartered in 1881. There are now 94 active chapters, with a membership of 30,600. The original house of the local chapter was the first fraternity house owned by a chapter of Alpha Tau Omega, and was the first fraternity house owned by any fraternity in the South. Tennessee Omega is the oldest chapter on the campus, being established in 1872. Among its prominent alumni are Bishop T. D. Bratton, Chancellor of the University; Dr. B. F. Finney and Dr. George M. Baker, Vice-Chancellor and Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences of the University. Some of the prominent alumni in the national organization are Robert Bingham, Ambassador to England; Norman H. Davis, Ambassador-at-large; Dr. Carl T. Compton, President of M. I. T.; Scott M. Loftus, President of the American Bar Association.

Eight students at the University of Alabama founded Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity in 1856. From this first chapter, given the name Mu, the fraternity has had rapid and constant growth; there are now 108 active chapters in forty-six states with a total membership of around 40,000. When the Civil War came, there were about 500 members. Sixty members lost their lives in the war. A Kentucky girl who kept intact the documents of one of the chapters during the war period was rewarded with membership and the distinction of being the fraternity's only woman member. The local chapter, Tennessee Omega, was installed in 1881. Among its prominent alumni are: Colonel H. T. Bull, U. S. War College; Dr. J. G. Glass, eminent theologian; B. F. KAPPA SIGMA Kappa Sigma was founded at the University of Virginia in 1869. The founders are known in its literature as the "five friends and brothers." During the first years the members were noted for their high social status in the South. It was the first Southern fraternity to attempt Northern expansion. There are now 108 chapters in forty-five states and one in Canada and a total membership of about 35,000. The fraternity maintains funds for keeping in close touch with individuals and chapters. The patriotic sense is embodied in the fraternal order, and each chapter displays an American flag. The local chapter, Tennessee Omega, was established in 1882. Some of the prominent alumni from this chapter are: Admiral Cary T. Grayson, Head of American Red Cross; Bishop-Coadjutor William Mercer Green of Mississippi; Dr. Edward C. Ellett, noted eye surgeon; George Malcolm Fooshee, prominent New York lawyer; Haynes McFadden, Jr., managing editor, Southern Bankers Publishing Co. Among the prominent national alumni appear: William McAdoo, U. S. senator; Lowell Thomas, author, traveler, lecturer; Dr. Edwin P. Hubble, director of Mt. Wilson Observatory; George Jean Nathan, author and dramatic critic; Bob Zuppke, coach at University of Illinois.

DELTA TAU DELTA

Delta Tau Delta was informally organized at Bethany College, Virginia (now West Virginia), in the spring of 1858, but the formal organization was not effected until early in 1859. In 1848, at the University of Mississippi, The Rainbow, or W. W. W. Society, was founded, and this exclusive and first distinctly Southern fraternity united with Delta Tau Delta in 1886, after lengthy negotiations. Expansion since that time has been steady and conservative, there now being 76 active chapters in all parts of this country and Canada, with a total membership of approximately 30,000. Delta Tau Delta has been foremost in the national interfraternity council in the encouragement of scholarship among the fraternity groups. Beta Theta, the local chapter, was chartered in 1883. Outstanding among its living alumni are Bishop William Manning of New York, Bishop Frank A. Juhan of Florida; Newton Middleton, author of the "Alma Mater"; John Whitaker, noted foreign correspondent; and the Rev. Henry Phillips, greatest Southern football player. Two of the five fraternity men in President Roosevelt's cabinet, Secretaries Wallace and Dern, are Delts. Others are U. S. Senators Barkley and Clark, authors Frank Palmer and Ben Ames Williams, and General William R. Smith.

PHI DELTA THETA

The founding of Phi Delta Theta was at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, in 1848, the fraternity being one of the members of the celebrated "Triad." The fraternity at first was strictly sub rosa and it was not until 1852 that badges were worn openly. There are 106 active chapters and initiates now number around 42,500, about the largest of any fraternity, also with the widest Canadian expansion of any fraternity. The local chapter, Tennessee Beta, was installed in 1883, and was the first to build a house owned by its fraternity. Among its prominent alumni are found: Bishop Finley of South Carolina; Bishop Mitchell of Arizona; Bishop Brown of Pennsylvania; Malcolm Lockhart, Kemper Williams, and Bland Mitchell, Regents of the University. Among the prominent national alumni are: Will Hayes, movie executive; Grantland Rice, sports writer; Frank Crumit, radio star; Chic Evans, golf titlist; Lew Gehrig, baseball star.

KAPPA ALPHA

The Southern Order of Kappa Alpha was founded in 1865 at Washington College, now Washington and Lee University. It was created with the idea of fostering and maintaining the manners, customs, and ideals of character and achievement of the Southern people. The fraternity has confined itself to the South with the exception of three chapters in California. There are sixty-five active chapters of the organization with a total membership of about 25,000. Kappa Alpha was not so fortunate in its infancy as some other fraternal organizations, for at many institutions where chapters were placed, anti-fraternity legislation shortly went into effect. Thus, it was left to a small nucleus of chapters to effect its permanent organization. The local chapter, Alpha Alpha, was installed in 1883. Among its prominent alumni are found: Bishop Henry Mikell of Atlanta; Niles Trammell, vice-president of the National Broadcasting Company; Ellis G. Arnall, Speaker pro tem, Georgia Legislature. Among prominent national alumni are found Admiral Richard Byrd, explorer; J. Edgar Hoover, Department of Justice; Edwin L. James, managing editor of The New York Times; Rex Beach, author.

PHI GAMMA DELTA

Phi Gamma Delta was founded at old Jefferson College (now Washington and Jefferson) at Canonsburg, Pa., in 1848. It is the thirteenth oldest Greek-letter society in America. The first meeting of the fraternity provided for the establishment of "foreign chapters." The patronage of Jefferson College being largely from Southern States, it was natural that expansion should be in the South, and eleven of the first sixteen chapters organized prior to the Civil War were located in Southern States. The fraternity now has seventy-three active chapters and its solemn vows have been taken by more than 32,000 college men, of whom 27,000 are living. The local chapter was installed in 1919, and is called the Gamma Sigma chapter. Among the prominent national alumni of the fraternity are found: Lew Wallace, author; Newton D. Baker, Secretary of War; John Clarke Ridpath, eminent historian; Charles P. Steinmetz, scientist; Karl Bickel, president of the United Press; Avery Hopwood, famed playwright; Elisha Lee, vice-president of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

SIGMA NU

Sigma Nu grew out of a secret society established at Virginia Military Institute in 1868, called the Legion of Honor. The Greek letter designation and other college fraternity characteristics were adopted the next year. Sigma Nu has 94 active chapters in all of the forty-eight states, with a membership of approximately 29,000. The Delta was so named because of the triangular relationship between the Alpha, Kappa, and Lambda chapters who collaborated in publishing it first in 1883. The official fraternity song is the recently written "White Star of Sigma Nu." The local chapter, Beta Omicron, was installed in 1889. Among prominent alumni from the local chapter are Dr. Sedley Lynch Ware, Professor of History in the University and Richard W. Courts, financier of Atlanta, Ga. Prominent national alumni include Zane Gray, author and sportsman; Senator George of Georgia; Governor Talmadge of Georgia; Ellsworth Vines, tennis champion; George Aydelotte, president of Swarthmore College and secretary of Rhodes Trustees of America; "Chic" Sale and Skeets Gallagher, movie stars.

SCHOLARSHIP AND LEAD

PHI BETA KAPPA

• Election to this honorary scholastic fraternity represents the highest honor that a student can obtain during his college career. It represents five consecutive semesters' work with an average of ninety or more. Membership in this society, it is interesting to note, is limited to persons who are students in colleges of liberal arts • There are, however, alumni members who are elected from the prominent alumni of the institutions and also honorary members, generally elected from the faculty, who have given outstanding assistance to the scholastic recognition of the college. There are one hundred and fourteen active chapters of the society in only the best schools of America which have been formed since the organization of the first chapter of Phi Beta Kappa at William and Mary College in 1776 • The Tennessee Beta Chapter was established at the University of the South in 1926. Its members in the faculty are: Dr. Baker, Dr. DuBose, Dr. Finney, Dr. Bruton, Dr. Knickerbocker, Dr. Petry, Dr. Ware, Mr. Gass, Mr. Frierson, and Major MacKellar • The student members now in the University are: George Hall, James Thoroughood, Hiram Chamberlain, Maurel Richard, Britton D. Tabor, Richard Wilkens, Bowdoin Craighill, Willis Rosenthal, Ben Phillips, Tucker MacKenzie, and Emmet Gribbin.

SCHOLARSHIP SOCIETY

• Election to the Scholarship Society is a most highly esteemed achievement on the campus. Its membership is made up of students in the University who have completed four consecutive semesters' work with an average of eighty-five or higher • It is a stepping stone toward higher scholastic achievements. This year the society has been headed by Maurel Richard, the president, under whose directions plans have been laid for several lectures to be given during the spring • The roster of the society is: Dr. Baker, Dr. DuBose, Dr. Ware, Dr. Knickerbocker, Dr. Wells, Dr. Scott, Dr. Finney, Mr. Kayden, Mr. Long, Mr. Gass, Mr. Martin, Mr. Guerry, Lee Belford, Jack Soper, Britton D. circle was formed at Washington and Lee University at Lexington, Virginia, December 3, 1914 • The Alpha Alpha Circle was established at Sewanee in 1929. There are now twenty-nine circles of the society throughout the country.

OMICRON DELTA KAPPA

• Membership in this honorary leadership fraternity is, with the exception of Phi Beta Kappa, the most sought after and highly esteemed honor on the campus. Only three per cent of the student body are eligible for election to the society and they must be members of the Order of Gownsmen • It is Omicron Delta Kappa which recognizes and brings together the leaders in the various fields of activity on the mountain. Its ideals are: recognition, inspiration, opportunity, and character. The original

BLUE KEY

• Blue Key, an honor fraternity founded at the University of Florida in October, 1924, with the national organization formed in 1925, recognizes outstanding qualities in character, scholarship, student activities, leadership, and service. There are altogether fifty chapters in the national organization • Election to this group comes not only from what one has done, but also from what one is capable of doing to further the progress and best interests of the University. The society considers problems dealing with the students and general life on the campus • They work in cooperation with the faculty in carrying on the traditions and standards of the University. Its members participate in drives for the University Community Chest which aids the unfortunate inhabitants of the surrounding mountains. Also to be remembered are the "Blue Key Follies" which make their second annual appearance in April of this year • They are given to raise funds for the various philanthropic works of the society. Blue Key acts as hosts to all visitors on the mountain when intercollegiate meets of one sort or another are held here. The meetings and activities of the society are similar to those of Rotary and its functions are certainly such as to rightly win the title of "Service Fraternity" for it • Its membership includes men from all departments of the University; they are: Major McKellar, Mr. Griswold, Dr. Scott, Mr. Frierson, Earl Dicus, George Hall, Willis Rosenthal, Lee Belford, Jack Franklin, David Rose, James Blair, Bob Holloway, Bert Dedman, Ben Phillips, Wyatt Brown, Stewart Hull, H. Gruber Woolf, Bowdo'in Craighill, Rupert Colmore, Tucker MacKenzie, Harold Eustis. The officers are: President, James Blair; Vice-President, David Rose; Secretary, Stewart Hull; Treasurer, George Hall. These officers with an active chapter have kept the society up to the high standard which in previous years has marked its existence.

THE ORDER OF GOWNSMEN

CHARLES FRANKLIN PEARSON
President

• The Order of Gownsmen is the student governing body which is composed of all students who have attained a Junior or Senior rating. Gownsmen are distinguished by their academic gowns and are granted privileges not open to undergrads. The new Gownsmen are installed each year at the Founders' Day service. The Order of Gownsmen serves as a channel for handling student problems in cooperation with the University authorities and acts as a means of carrying on the traditions and ideals of Sewanee. The Freshmen Traditions Committee handles the disciplinary action of all freshmen in the University.

THE PROCTORS

• The Proctors are selected by the Vice-Chancellor from the outstanding members of the Junior and Senior classes for the purpose of enforcing discipline and maintaining order in the dormitories • Each proctor is given jurisdiction over a particular dormitory, but his duties extend over the entire campus. The proctors and their halls are: James Blair, Head Proctor, The Sewanee Inn; Earl Dicus, Saint Luke's Hall; Bert Dedman, Hoffman Hall; Stewart Hull, Johnson Hall; Ben Phillips, Cannon Hall; David Rose, Tuckaway.

TIVE ORGANIZATIONS

THE STUDENT VESTRY

- The ten members of the Student Vestry are elected from the various classes of the University. The body works with the Chaplain in carrying out his work and in promoting the religious life of the students.
- The vestrymen are: David Rose, John Peckham, Tucker MacKenzie, Ben Phillips, Sidney Burgess, William Willien, Theodore Bratton, John Riddick, William M. Green, Jr., and Norman Kinzie.

THE HONOR COUNCIL

- Sewanee has used the Honor System since the very earliest days of the University and has found it to be most satisfactory. The Honor Council which handles any infringement of the Honor Code is composed of two Seniors, two Juniors, one Sophomore, one Freshman, and one Theological Student. The Sewanee Honor Code applies not only in the classroom and during examinations but in all activities on the mountain • The Council is seldom forced to act, but when it does take action the University authorities accept its decision as final • The members of the Honor Council for this year are: Jack Franklin and Henry Lumpkin from the Senior Class, Bert Dedman and Baxter Moore from the Junior Class, James Packer from the Sophomore Class, Alex Guerry, Jr. from the Freshman Class.
- During examination periods, the Honor Code permits students a number of rights and privileges, such as leaving the room to smoke, or to journey to the Supply Store or Sandwich Shop for coffee, which would not be allowed otherwise.

PI GAMMA MU

• Pi Gamma Mu, national social science honor society, was founded in 1924 and the Tennessee Beta Chapter was established at Sewanee in 1930. It was organized with the purpose of encouraging the scientific study of social problems and of promoting cooperation between the branches of social science. The meetings are round table discussions in which all of the members take part • The subjects considered are those problems of social interest to the world today. Mr. Kayden is the advisor to the society • The other members are: Dr. Finney, Dr. Ware, Dr. McDonald, Col. Prescott, Mr. Long, Mr. Atkins, Mr. Myers, Britton D. Tabor, Atlee Hoff, Bowdoin Craighill, Willis Rosenthal, Herbert Smith, Richard Wilkens, James Thorogood, Gerhard Russell, Fleet Clark, Wylie Mitchell, Gus Graydon, Emmet Gribbin, James Gibson, Jack Franklin, George Alexander, William Crook, Sidney Young, Coates Lear.

• Sopherim, the mother chapter of Sigma Upsilon, national literary fraternity, was founded at Sewanee in 1905. The national organization was formed in 1906 when societies similar to Sopherim at Vanderbilt, the University of Georgia, and Randolph-Macon College for Men united under the present name • The purpose of the organization is to recognize men of the Order of Gownsmen who have shown outstanding literary ability and to encourage further literary appreciation and creative work. The meetings are held twice a month, at which time the members present their papers which are indeed most interesting.

ERARY ORGANIZATIONS

NEOGRAPH

• Neograph is an honorary literary society for undergrads. It was founded in 1903 and reorganized in 1923 after being dormant for three years • The purpose of Neograph is to encourage literary efforts of undergrads. The papers presented at the weekly meetings show unusual creative effort and the discussions which follow every paper are most enlightening as to the ways in which the papers may be improved.

WILLIAM N. WILKERSON
President

Members: H. McClellan, C. Brown, B. Ephgrave, A. Juhan, W. Woolverton, J. Packer, L. Vaiden, A. Guerry, G. Gaither, J. Riddick, E. Cotten, C. Cobbs, W. Wilkerson.

THE DEBATE COUNCIL

• The Debate Council is the debating organization of Sewanee. It includes all of the regular members of the debate team and those other men who have shown particular ability and interest • This is a variation from the manner in which most schools carry on their debate work, but it does give experience to more men and keeps the competition keen for places on the team • The indications are that the season of this year's debate team will be as successful as those of the past for which Sewanee has been so famous. The subject to be debated this year is: "Resolved that Congress shall be able to override by a two-third vote decisions rendered by the Supreme Court on laws passed by Congress." • Members of the Council are: Lumpkin, MacKenzie, Gillespie, Johnston, Gribbin, Barnes, Dedman, H. T. Shelton, J. Bass, Vaiden, Crook, Clark, Craighill, Turner, C. Campbell.

SIGMA EPSILON AND PI OMEGA

• These two ancient and honorable organizations have found their places somewhat usurped by the various newer societies on the mountain. They still retain their intent and purpose of promoting excellence in public speaking • They have been reorganized this year along the plan that they hold two meetings a month, one separately and the other jointly. They have not, however, completely united • At these joint meetings the program is presented by one of the societies. They seek to afford practice in all types of speaking but above all in extemporaneous speaking. The membership of Sigma Epsilon includes: Craighill, Alligood, Milward, Johnston, Franklin, Young, Lumpkin, Crook, Dedman, H. E. Smith, H. T. Shelton, Gillespie, Harrison, and Dabney • Pi Omega members are: Gray, Vreeland, Wilkens, Wells, Gribbin, Barnes, Graydon, and Tabor.

EDWARD B. VREELAND
*Student Director and

• The Sewanee Glee Club has made fine progress this year under the direction of "Pete" Vreeland early in the year and later under Mr. McConnell, when Mr. Vreeland resigned to become accompanist to the group • The membership includes: Wyatt Brown, Harold Eustis, Marshall Barnes, Robert Coleman, James Stoney, Gerhard Russell, Charles Brown, Marshall Turner, Sam Walton, Richard Wilkens, Billy Crook, Sam Strang, Gus Graydon, Tucker MacKenzie, Leslie McLaurin, Dan Gray, Ben Donnel, Wylie Mitchell, Colin Campbell, Cotesworth Lewis, Ed McPherson, Emmett Gribbin, Tom Sauer, Jim Packer, Theodore Heyward, John Binnington, Willie Green, Bernard Wrigley, Owen Scott, Jim Gibson, Bob Holloway, Bowdoin Craighill, Dick Dabney.

THE SEWANEE GERMAN CLUB

JAMES D. BLAIR, JR.
President

• The officers of the German Club are: President, James D. Blair, Jr.; Vice-President, Wyatt Brown, Jr.; Secretary, William Wilkerson; Treasurer, J. Tucker MacKenzie, Jr.

• The Sewanee German Club has done a splendid job of providing the University with most enjoyable dances again this year, as it always does. Under the capable direction of the officers of the club the dances which have been held have been considered as fine as any ever given at Sewanee • The two football dances in the fall were most delightful affairs and proved again that the Sewanee gentlemen were great lovers of the terpsichorean sport. Then came the Thanksgiving dances on the Friday and Saturday following Thanksgiving Day • These dances brought many girls to the mountain and were enjoyed by all. The Mid-Winter dances on the third and fourth of February, given in the gymnasium against an extremely well executed scheme of a Japanese motif. The beautiful scenes so capably drawn in red, black, and silver by Wyatt Brown were considered by many as being the best decorations seen in the gym for many years. The music of Joe Sanders, "The Ol' Left Hand," did much to lighten the hearts and feet of those who, in spite of themselves, felt the dreariness of the weather which held the mountain in its icy grip • As the Cap and Gown goes to press, plans are under way for the Easter dances, which we understand, will take place the week after Easter; and also one hears distant rumblings of preparations for a grand and glorious set of Commencement dances to be held early in June.

L'ALLEGRO CLUB

STEWART P. HULL
President

• The Social Club is the newest organization on the mountain. It was formed during the fall by members of the student body and several of the members of the faculty who felt the need for a group to sponsor small entertainments for the students • This end has been successfully achieved in the two parties which the group has given, one just before the Christmas holidays and another on Shrove Tuesday which took the form of a Mardi Gras celebration • The entire student body has been the guests of the club at these parties, but the future plans are to limit the guests strictly to members • It is felt that the Social Club will serve the best interests of the University.

DRAMATICS

• This year the dramatics at Sewanee have been completely reorganized. As a part of the Department of Public Speaking, an experimental workshop theatre has been developed under the direction of Mr. H. Gruber

Woolf. In this group the members study the presentation of plays from all angles. They design their own scenery, make their own lighting arrangements, and study the phases of stage presentation • Up to this time the only public presentation was the Nativity Cycle of the York Mystery Plays which was most capably produced on the 14th and 16th of December in Saint Luke's chapel. The plans which the organization has for the future include a group of three one act plays to be presented early in the second semester with possibly another group to be given later in the year • Late in May, according to plans, "She Stoops to Conquer" will be produced as the main work of the group.

H. GRUBER WOOLF
Director

THE CHOIR

• The Choir, generously assisted by several men from the Theological School, is slowly recovering from last year's debacle. In addition to furnishing music for the regular Sunday Morning Services in Chapel, it presented an unusually beautiful program of Christmas Carols on Sunday evening, December 15th, and is preparing to give the Stainer "Crucifixion" during Holy Week • The purged and rehabilitated Choir is under the very capable direction of Mr. Paul S. MacConnell, who is University Organist and Head of the Music Department. Pete Vreeland assists as student organist • It is expected that a good and large choir will be a result of these labors within the next few years.

TIGER COACHES

Coach "Nig" Clark is also versatile, being graduate manager of athletics and Freshman football coach.

Coach "Hec" Clark, since his installation as head coach in 1931, has consistently turned out teams that have made the name of Sewanee synonymous with courage, fight, and spirit. Overcoming his handicap of poor material, "Hec" takes many green players and turns them into efficient and polished performers.

Coach Allen Lincoln ably assists Coach "Hec" in turning out Sewanee football teams and yet finds time to coach basket'ball and track.

SPIRIT OF

John Binnington, head cheerleader, and his assistants, Emmet Gribbin and Theodore Heyward, are mainly responsible for keeping the famous Sewanee spirit at its height during athletic seasons. The managers, below, are Ben Phillips, football; Hiram Chamberlain, basketball, and Herbert Smith, track. These men have done their respective jobs quite well.

The task that confronted Coach "Hec" Clark at the beginning of the 1935 season was no easy one. Six seniors, four of them on the first team, had graduated. Four other lettermen were lost either by a change of schools or illness. To top this, the squad was greatly weakened by a flu epidemic that hit the early football camp and by the injuries gained in practice which kept Wyatt Brown and Marshall Turner out for the remainder of the season. Coach Clark, assisted by Coach Lincoln, began to fill in the many gaps with reserves and men from the 1934 Freshmen ranks. After the first two games of the year, a definite starting lineup was decided upon. It was: Whitley and Dedman, ends; Colmore and Bolling, tackles; Lumpkin and Moore, guards; and Blair, center. Poage, Montgomery, Eustis, and Ruch made up the backfield.

Although this team had a disappointing season from the standpoint of victories, winning only two out of nine games, its main feature was the renewed spirit with which they entered each game and their remarkable ability to take punishment and come back fighting. The Tigers may have lost every Southeastern Conference game, but they never gave up or stopped hoping, displaying as much fight as the Sewanee teams of old. After taking a beating on one Saturday, the Purple and White team was always ready to give everything the next week when faced with equally terrific odds. Take for instance the Vanderbilt and Florida games. Swamped by the Commodores, who marched off the field with a 46 to 0 victory, the Tigers came back the next Saturday to hold Florida scoreless during the first half, only to lose in the final quarters on unfortunate breaks. Some may say, "Just luck," but it takes more than luck to come back like that. It takes courage and spirit, and you can mark down the 1935 Tigers team as having as much of these two qualities as any team in the conference, no matter how many games they lost.

Rupert Colmore, playing his second year of varsity ball, was outstanding in every game and added to the laurels he gained his Sophomore year by being given honorable mention on one of the All-Southeastern teams. "Rupe" was also given recognition by the All-American board of football. Ralph Ruch, Malcolm Poage, and "Bud" Pearson made their last year of Sewanee football a memorable one and played excellent ball in the backfield. Jimmy Blair, playing his third year at center, was a tower of strength in the middle of the line and was ably assisted by Henry Lumpkin at guard. "Pinkie" Young, although he did not report until late in the season, turned in some good ball playing before the year was over.

At the banquet held November 25th, Jimmy Blair was elected captain and the most valuable man on the 1935 team. Letters were awarded to: Sidney Young, Hugh Shelton, Jack Whitley, Bert Dedman, Rupert Colmore, Richard Bolling, William Crook, W. F. Willien, Henry Lumpkin, Baxter Moore, Bill Faidley, P. B. Griffin, Jimmy Blair, Harold Eustis, Charles Pearson, Malcolm Poage, Ralph Ruch, Billy Fleming, Dan Harrison, M. F. Jackson, C. L. Montgomery, and Ben Phillips, Manager.

At the end of the season Jimmy Blair was chosen as captain of the 1935 edition of the Purples. Playing his third year as first string center, "Nutty" was also voted the most valuable player on the Sewanee team. With only two exceptions, Blair played sixty minutes in every game last Fall.

SEWANEE VS. ST. LOUIS UNIVERSITY

To open the season, Coach "Hec" Clark sent his fighting Sewanee Tigers against the powerful and fast St. Louis University Billikens, only to lose 32 to 0. Early in the game the Tigers were caught flatfooted and a pass from Wood to Hudson netted the Billikens their first score. A few minutes later Hudson again took the ball over after Poage's pass had been intercepted by Rossini. Although the Purples had little chance to try any offensive work, they tightened their defense and held the St. Louis team in mid-field during the entire second quarter. Coach Clark was forced to substitute freely in the last half to rest his rapidly tiring players, and the Billikens had little trouble in pushing over three more touchdowns before the final whistle blew. "Sonny" Montgomery proved his worth, and turned in several nice gains for the Tigers.

SEWANEE VS. GEORGIA TECH

Sewanee lost its second game of the season to the Georgia Tech Yellow Jackets by the same score as the previous week's game, 32 to 0. With the exception of the second quarter in which Tech scored 25 points, the game was close and provided plenty of thrills for the 4,000 Atlanta fans who turned out to see the first meeting of the two schools in twenty-one years. "Bud" Pearson was Sewanee's leading ground gainer, while Colmore played his usual bang-up game in the line. The Tigers suffered a severe loss when Hugh Shelton had his leg broken and was out for the rest of the season.

SEWANEE VS. OLE MISS

The lack of strong reserves was one of the main reasons for Sewanee losing to Ole Miss on the latter's field. A valiant bunch of Purple Tigers held the Mississippi team to one touchdown in the first half, only to weaken in the last two quarters and go down in defeat by a 33 to 0 score. With the exception of the 35-yard touchdown jaunt by Ray Hapes in the first stanza, the Tigers stopped every attempt of Ole Miss in the initial half and threatened on several occasions. In the last half the tired Sewanee team was snowed under by a four touchdown assault of the Mississippians, who substituted frequently. The hard luck that had dogged the Tigers all season came to a head in this game when halfback "Bud" Pearson received a cracked cheek bone, which kept him out of the starting lineup for over a month.

SEWANEE VS. TENNESSEE WESLEYAN

The Tigers' first victory came on October 18th when they defeated a fighting Tennessee Wesleyan team, 9 to 7, in a close game. The Purples outplayed the Bulldogs in every department with the exception of passing, but were unable to score until Rupert Colmore kicked a field goal early in the third quarter. Montgomery toted the ball over the double stripes in the first few minutes of the fourth period for the Tigers' final tally. A pass, late in the game, gave the Wesleyanites their lone marker. Ruch and Blair were the mainstays of the Sewanee defense, while Montgomery and Poage showed up well on the offense.

FOOTBALL SEASON

SEWANEE VS. TULANE

Playing before 10,000 New Orleans' rooters, the Tigers were swamped by Tulane's Green Wave and sank under a 33 to 0 score. The Greenies scored in every period, and used fifty men against the small Sewanee squad. "Lefty" Poage got off some of his best punts of the season, several travelling well over 40 yards. "Rupe" Colmore played well in the line, blocking one of Page's kicks and recovering a fumble.

SEWANEE VS. T. P. I.

In winning their second victory of the season, the Tigers defeated T. P. I. 6 to 0, after being stopped time and again within the shadow of the goal posts. Finally with less than 5 minutes left to play, Colmore recovered a Tech fumble on the 25-yard line and on the next play Motgomery passed to Ruch for 20 yards. Two plays later, Dan Harrison, 140-pound Tiger substitute, carried the ball over the goal. Sewanee thoroughly outplayed the Golden Eagles, gaining 247 yards to their 77, but lacked the final push to put the ball over until late in the game.

SEWANEE VS. VANDERBILT

Saturday, November 9th, proved a disastrous day for the Sewanee eleven. Meeting their oldest and keenest rivals, the Vanderbilt Commodores, the Tigers were swamped by a 46 to 0 defeat. Outweighed 25 pounds to the man, Sewanee could not cope with the three teams which were alternated by Ray Morrison, Vandy's coach. The Commodores smashed the Tigers' offense and forced them to punt whenever they gained possession of the ball. Montgomery's 15-yard pass to Harrison resulted in the losers only first down. Billy Crook played an excellent game at one of the end positions and Blair, Dedman, and Ruch also played well against insurmountable odds.

SEWANEE VS. FLORIDA

The Purple Tigers played their best game of the year the following Saturday against the University of Florida. The score was 20 to 0 with the Tigers on the short end, but the game was much closer than the final result would indicate. Sewanee outplayed the 'Gators during the entire first half, once reaching the 4-yard line, only to be turned back by the Florida forward wall. The Tiger line played admirably throughout the entire game and the 'Gator's first touchdown, early in the third period, was the only one made on a running play from scrimmage. The other two scores came on intercepted passes late in the game when Sewanee was passing in a desperate attempt to even the count. Poage averaged 38 yards on eleven punts, while Jimmy Blair and Henry Lumpkin showed up well in the line. "Pinkie" Young played splendidly, catching several of Ruch's passes for nice gains.

SEWANEE VS. MISS. STATE

Sewanee closed its 1935 season with a 25 to 0 loss to a strong Mississippi State team which had previously defeated Army and Alabama. The Tigers were unable to show the vastly improved offense that was turned against Florida the week before and Major Sasse's reserves were strong enough to hold them to a net gain of 8 yards. Lumpkin, Poage, Blair, Ruch, Pearson, and Young, all seniors, played their last game for the Purple and White.

B A S K E T B A L L

With six lettermen returning, Sewanee basketball prospects were bright at the beginning of the 1936 season but the injury and illness jinx that seems to hound all Tiger teams visited some of the players early in the year and the team never regained its full strength until late in the schedule.

Pearson, Craighill, Colmore, and Dedman formed the nucleus about which Coach Allen Lincoln built his 1936 edition of the Tigers. Ed Warren, up from last year's freshmen ranks, stepped into the other forward position while Shelton and Turner, lettermen of last year, were kept in reserve along with Bob Coleman, who was a teammate of Warren on the Frosh quintet.

The opening game of the season with the Auburn Plainsmen brought disaster to the Purple and White five as Craighill, star forward, sprained his ankle and was lost from the team for five weeks. The game was close throughout with the Tigers holding a two point lead late in the second half when Craighill was forced to leave the floor. This seemed to demoralize the team and Auburn rallied to win 25 to 22. Coach Lincoln alternated Shelton and Turner at the vacant position but the revamped Purples could not stop the Auburn offense and lost the next night by a 34 to 25 score. Taking their first trip of the season, Sewanee engaged Vanderbilt at Nashville and came out on the short end of a 45 to 27 score. Bud Pearson was the shining light in this defeat, running up twelve of our twenty-seven points. After travelling half way across the state of Tennessee, a tired Tiger team played the University of Tennessee Vols only to lose again, 41 to 18. The Purple and White held their opponents to a 14 to 7 score at the half but the rangy Vol outfit proved too much for them in the last period and ran up a twenty-three point lead. Returning to their home court, the Tigers lost to an under-rated Tennessee Wesleyan team by a score of 34 to 27. The visitors led all the way and were almost overtaken in the closing minutes as the Sewanee five rallied desperately but were stopped short by the end of the game. Soon after this a flu epidemic hit the Mountain and few of Sewanee's players were unaffected by it. Practice was suspended for a couple of days and although the epidemic subsided, it left the team in a weakened condition. Meeting Vanderbilt for the second time, the enfeebled Purple team lost 40 to 16 but not without giving the Commodores a brief scare in the last half. After trailing 16 to 5 at the half, the Tigers put on a spurt that moved them to within five points of the strong Black and Gold team but here the visitors rallied and were never threatened again. Two days later Sewanee won their first intercollegiate game of the season when they defeated

Mississippi College in a thrilling contest 44 to 40. It was a free scoring affair, both teams hitting the basket with unusual accuracy. Pearson and Warren led the Purples with thirteen and eleven points respectively. Resuming play after the mid-winter exams and dances, Sewanee took on the Southwestern Lynx only to lose by a 41 to 27 margin. The Memphis team presented a smooth offense which completely baffled the Tigers. Embarking on their second trip, the Purple and White five went to Auburn, Alabama where they met the Plainsmen in two contests. Appearing tired after their long train ride, the Tigers lost the first game by a 42 to 18 score. The second encounter was a different story and Sewanee played one of the best brands of ball that she displayed all season but late in the game she succumbed to an Auburn rally and lost 41 to 31. Ed Warren sprained his ankle slightly in this game and was put on the sidelines for the next two games. Homeward bound, the Tigers stopped in Atlanta to play the Georgia Tech Yellow Jackets and lost 34 to 16. The contest was poorly refereed and was one of the roughest games ever seen in Atlanta. The score was 13 to 10 at the half but the tall Jacket team out-roughed and out-jumped the Purples to double the score on them. Arriving on the Mountain, Sewanee played a return encounter with the Yellow Jackets. The teams were on even terms during the first half but Georgia Tech came back with a vengeance in the last period to swamp the Tigers 58 to 35. Colmore played splendidly leading his team with 12 points. Craighill and Warren had both recovered from their injuries and were able to take part in the Tigers second victory of the year, gained when they defeated Beckley Tech of West Virginia by a 38 to 31 score. Shelton and Colmore were high point men for the Purples with nine points each. Two days later the Tennessee Vols came to the Mountain and presented the best team seen here all season which licked the Tigers 46 to 35. The Vols, who had just defeated Kentucky, had things their own way in the first half and led at the intermission 27 to 8. But the game was only beginning for the Tigers and they came back to outscore Tennessee 27 to 19 in the second period. Pearson was "hot" and seemingly couldn't miss. He accounted for 13 of Sewanee's points. Journeying to Memphis to close the season the Tigers lost a heartbreaker to Southwestern 33 to 31 after leading the Lynx up to the very last minute of play. Craighill was in top form and hit the basket for 12 points.

Thus closed the 1936 season, discouraging in most respects but not without its bright moments. The Tigers showed at the last of the season that they had real strength and had they not had such hard luck due to injuries and illness, the entire story might have been changed.

V A R S I T Y T R A C K

Coach Allen Lincoln is faced with the difficult problem of building up his 1936 track team with seven lettermen back and very little material coming up from last year's Freshmen ranks. The lettermen are: Fleet Clark, who runs the 100 and 220; Jimmy Blair, both the 440 and relay; Stewart Hull, who runs the 880 and relay; "Pinkie" Young, the high jump; Wyatt Brown, 440 and discus; Rupert Colmore, who high jumps and puts the shot; and Bob Holloway, 220 and mile relay. Six lettermen on last year's team either graduated or dropped out of school and several squad members were lost through these same mediums. They are: "Marty" Heathman, the team's best all-round track man, who ran the 440, 880, mile, and relay; Bob Camors, high and low hurdles and broad-jump; Ed Harrison, two miler; John Eby, miler; Doug Vaughan, pole vault; Kirby-Smith; and squad members, Tate, Drane, Thornton, and Sparkman. With these men gone Coach Lincoln will have a real job in finding a hurdler, several distance men, a pole vaulter, and a javelin thrower. Up from the Freshman team of last year are "Sonny" Montgomery, who with practice may turn into a good hurdler; Jackson and Gillespie, dash men; Charlie Brown, 440 and 880; and Jack Thompson, pole vaulter. These men will find their predecessor's places hard to fill but with plenty of training they should fit in well and add considerably to the strength of this year's team.

At the time of going to press, no meets have been held but with such a large squad and the interest which the student body showed last season and is again showing this year, it is highly probable that the Tigers will have a successful team, winning the majority of their meets. In order to uncover new talent and to act as a trial for the team members, the intra-mural meet will be held first, and then follow tentative meets with Vanderbilt, Chattanooga, and Milligan. The Tennessee Intercollegiate Athletic Association is having its meet on the Mountain this year on May 8th and the Sewanee team, acting as hosts, should show up well. If the team shows outstanding merit, some of its members will be sent to the Southeastern Conference meet in Birmingham late in May. Last year's team finished third in the T. I. A. A. meet held at Cookeville and Clark and Camors were sent to Birmingham but failed to carry off any honors.

V A R S I T Y T E N N I S

(The Tennis Team is ably coached by Dr. G. S. Bruton.)

Because at the time the CAP AND GOWN must go to press none of the tennis matches have been played, only the prospects for the season and the tentative schedule can be given.

Tennis is rapidly becoming one of the major sports at Sewanee, and interest has been running high of late. Last year's tennis team had an excellent season, winning eleven out of thirteen matches. Southwestern and Georgia Tech, two of the best teams in the South last year, were the only teams to defeat the Tigers. Sewanee's players were runners-up in the T. I. A. A. tournament held in Cookville, losing to Southwestern in the finals.

At the time of this writing no practices have been held, and the team positions have not been decided upon. Number One position is open, having been vacated by Cyril Yancey, who graduated last June. A three-way fight for his position will be waged between "Pinkie" Young, last year's Number Two; Hugh Shelton, Number Three player of last year, who played at the Belle Meade Country Club at Nashville during the summer; and Ed Warren, who held down Number One position on the Freshmen team last season after playing at Birmingham-Southern the year before. Doug Vaughan and Fred Fudickar, who were Numbers Four and Five respectively last year, are the other graduates who will be missed from the team this season. Their positions will be sought by Billy Crook, formerly Number Six; "Ruddy" Cravens and "Sonny" Montgomery, up from the Freshman ranks; Fleet Clark, Stewart Hull, and Bert Dedman.

So far all the matches are tentative, but two trips are planned and are likely to be taken. The first trip of approximately one thousand miles, includes matches with Georgia Tech, Emory, Georgia, Davidson, Asheville Country Club, and Tennessee. The other trip, a shorter one, consists of matches with Southwestern and Vanderbilt. Return engagements with the majority of these teams and Mississippi and T. P. I. will probably be held on the Mountain. Sewanee will be the host to the T. I. A. A. tournament entries and all matches will be held on the school courts. The Tigers have a good chance to make an excellent showing in this tournament and the members of the team who show up well will be sent to the Southern Intercollegiate Tournament in Atlanta.

The season should be a bright one, but the loss of the three men who graduated will be felt. Shelton will probably be better than ever this season, and may go far in the tournaments. Young and Warren will add greatly to the strength of the squad and will fight it out with Shelton for the first three positions. If all present plans go through the Tennis Team should help to spread Sewanee's name over the entire South.

FRESHMAN FOOTBALL

A small but promising group of Freshmen football candidates reported to Coach "Nig" Clark late in September and work was started immediately conditioning them for their scrimmages with the varsity and for the two games allowed freshmen teams in the Southeastern Conference. Early in the season the injury jinx, which dogged the varsity all year, hit the Freshmen ranks, and Cochrane, Patton, Ross, and Prince received hurts which hindered them from reaching the peak of their ability and weakened the team.

Both Freshmen games resulted in losses, but considering the smallness of the squad, the Baby Tigers played very good football at times. On November 2nd, the Freshmen were defeated by a greatly underrated Vanderbilt team by the large score of 32 to 0. The young Commodores showed a speedy offense and an impregnable defense, and they had little trouble in scoring almost at will against the Purple and White team, which seemed to be very weak at tackling. For Sewanee, Wilson, Learned, and Howell played well against large odds.

A fighting T. P. I. Freshmen team inflicted the Baby Tiger's second loss and thereby avenged the 45 to 0 defeat given Tech's Freshmen by the class of '38." The final score was 18 to 0. Although Sewanee made six first downs to their opponents three, the Golden Eagles took advantage of the breaks and made two of their touchdowns on intercepted passes. The other scores came when Makey crossed the double stripes after a 9-yard end run in the last quarter. Wilson and Learned were again outstanding for Sewanee.

At the end of the season, a banquet was held and nineteen players and two managers won numerals for their work during the season. They were: Lasater, Kostmayer, Howell, Wilson, Cochrane, Ehram, Ross, Reeves, Cooper, Learned, Patton, Crozier, Shertzer, Magee, Adams, Prince, Bratton, Cortez, Wanner, and Managers Douglas and Mitchell.

FRESHMEN BASKETBALL

The Class of 1938 had a disappointing basketball season from the standpoint of games won but the material which it will give to the varsity next year is most promising. The Freshmen won only three out of ten games played during the season. Because the Frosh did not participate in any college freshmen games, several transfer students were allowed to play and added greatly to the skill of the team.

To open the season, Coach "Lefty" Poage sent his charges against a strong Tracy City C. C. C. Camp and they went down in defeat 32 to 22. Cochrane made 7 points to lead the Freshmen's scoring. Two days later the Frosh lost a close contest to Bridgeport High by the score of 23 to 19. Both teams played raggedly and no one starred on either side. Engaging one of Tennessee's best prep school teams, the Baby Tigers were easily beaten 23 to 10 by the Baylor quintet from Chattanooga. The visitor's close defense limited the Frosh to three points in the first half. The Tigerettes won their first victory on January 23, when they showed much improvement in downing St. Andrews 28 to 17. Shertzter, Freshmen center, was high point man with 10 markers. Victory again came to the first year men on the very next day when they rallied in the second half and nosed out Belfast High by the score of 33 to 31. Luce proved his worth by ringing the basket for 13 points and was closely followed by Quisenberry with 10 points. The Frosh next lost a heart breaker to David Lipscomb who gained a last minute win to down the Tiger Freshmen 29 to 28. Shertzter kept up his assault on the basket, making 9 points. Irving College High journeyed to the Mountain and took the toll on the Frosh to the tune of 26 to 20. Although they played their best game of the season, the Baby Tigers lost a thrilling contest to McCallie by a 30 to 26 score. The Freshmen held a two point lead at the half but were unable to withstand McCallie's last half rally. The City High Lettermen lost to the Frosh by 33 to 18 to give them their last win of the season. Guerry led the winners with 14 points. Closing the season the Frosh lost to Notre Dame High of Chattanooga, 31 to 20, after leading them most of the game.

The Freshmen squad was composed of Luce, Shertzter, Cox, Quisenberry, Cochrane, Howell, Turner, Adams, Guerry, and Hall.

I N T R A M U R A L S

As the Cap and Gown goes to press only one intra-mural sport has been completed. The Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternity won the volley ball championship and thereby garnered a safe lead toward what may be their fourth straight intramural victory.

VOLLEY BALL

Opening the season the S.A.E. team breezed through the entire schedule without losing a game. In the last game of the season which was to decide the championship, the Sig Alphs were put to a severe test to defeat the Sigma Nu's by a score of two to one. This defeat put the Sigma Nu's in third place by merit of two lost games. The A.T.O. team ranked second, having lost only one game, to the champions. Outstanding players of the loop were; Ed Warren, S.A.E.; Bowdoin Craighill, A.T.O.; "Wimpy" Holmes, Sigma Nu; Hill Luce, K.A.; John Binnington, Delta; and Billy Johnston, Phi Delt.

BASKETBALL

At the time of writing the intramural basketball schedule has been a little more than half completed. Four of the teams, S.A.E., A.T.O., Sigma Nu, and Phi, are all neck and neck for first place. The S.A.E.'s and Sigma Nu's teams are the favorites and the race between these two for the championship should be the closest in years. At the end of the season an all star team is to be chosen.

HANDBALL

As yet no handball matches have been played although the entries from the various competitors are in. The Sigma Alpha Epsilons, last year's champs, have a good chance to repeat their victory, but they will be hard pressed by the Phi and Sigma Nu entries.

The schedules for track, swimming, golf, tennis, and baseball are yet to be made up, but the competition in all of these sports should be very keen as there is considerable ability in all of the competing organizations. It is hard to predict the results of any of these meets. Last year the Sig Alphs won the intramural track meet by a close margin over the A.T.O.'s. The outlaws on the Mountain won the swimming meet by the fine work of Hull and Kostmayer. The Sigma Nu's followed closely in second place. Bob Sweeney, the K.A. golf champion of the Mountain, did not return to school this year so will be unable to carry the colors of the southern gentlemen to victory again. In baseball, the S.A.E. team took the lead early and retained it throughout the schedule to win the championship and the intramural cup for their mantle. Second place was won by the Sigma Nu's.

THIS YEAR OF DISGRACE

BEING THE CHRONICLE OF A FEW MONTHS OF SEWANEE GOSSIP—PAGES TORN FROM THE DIARY OF THE CHIEF CENTRAL OF THE

SEWANEE BROADCASTING COMPANY

September 30—Arrived back to the labors, and how terrible it is to find Sewanee so changed. No more gossip in the library, as that pervading Old World atmosphere is gone. And we have a new old maid to add to the multitude, and from what I have already heard, I am going to have my hands full keeping track of her. Seemed good to see everybody, and the beady-eyed moujik was even civil for once.

October 1—Mrs. Rampage is already giving everybody fits. Oh what a fruitful subject of gossip she is. Now she's bought a little dog which everyone on the mountain is chasing for her. It rained today and I swore that with the first million that I make I will buy Sewanee some sidewalks.

October 5—Pledge Sunday is coming up and all the old maids are scurrying about looking over the freshmen. M— is especially busy wondering what pledges her fraternity is going to get. Ate dinner today with Miss Wicks. She unwittingly says the funniest things. For example—"I know people say lots in Sewanee besides their prayers."

October 30—Heard the funniest thing about a certain Junior. He told Miss Robbie that he thought her sofa was grand, and he had one like it in his home only it was kept in the attic. Robbie nearly died. But it makes me mad because I understand this story is two years old, and this is the first time that I heard about it.

November 1—Woke up this morning to find the clappers gone from the chimes. Bet it was those theologs. For after all when they are inebriated, no telling what they will do. And I just can't get out of that building without having at least one drink offered me.

November 2—Attended one of Hiram's teas today. Several members of the faculty there. Had a grand time discussing everybody and everything including Shakespeare.

November 3—The theologs have given up Shakespeare. Hi must have decided that there was not enough glory in it for him. Anyway I have got to watch him. He is getting to be too much of a gossip for his own good.

November 12—Mrs. Rampage is still the main topic of discussion. Just can't seem to get along with anybody. Mrs. W— seems to be having the worst of the bargain. The sandwich shop has not established itself as the central desk of information. But Mrs. G— still holds her own. Have so many sources of information now that it takes all my time collecting and assimilating the various topics of interest.

November 20—On the quarter hour the chimes now play "Three Blind Mice." All but one of the clappers have been returned. Everyone still suspects the Theos of the dirty work.

November 25—Ah Rain!—How wonderful thou art in the high places. Have resworn my vow concerning sidewalks. There will be no flowers left if Mrs. Rampage doesn't quit walking inside the fence of the chapel yard. M— is quite indignant about it.

November 30—Twenty-two days until Christmas. Makes me positively ill to think of all the home town gossip I have missed. Will have to spend most of the vacation catching up, and then to think of ALL that I will have to catch up when I get back to Sewanee.

December 1—Attended one of T—’s parties last night. Tried to drink me under the table but he failed. Ended up in Monteagle and was entertained by Red for hours. Wish that she would reduce.

December 5—One of A—’s parties tonight. This fast life is killing me. And there is a lot about Mrs. Rampage that I have been missing lately. Marion is worth her weight in gold keeping me up on the latest of everything. When I go on these sprees it’s so hard to fulfill my duty of recording all the gossip.

December 9—Nothing but rain today. Miss J— is all stirred up about something. Her sister isn’t so slow about aiding the general run of things, and the Dr. is a real scout.

December 15—I am afraid that the Mouse Woman is serious over her love, but it can come of no good. . . . Mrs. A—certainly has her own opinions on Profs. W— and T—. She ought to be V.-C.

December 16—Knicky would certainly be a helpful hand at gossip if he had the inclination. But now he is obsessed with the idea that musicians are never good lovers, because their emotions are satisfied in other channels. He is crazy.

December 21—Am leaving for home in an hour. Don’t know what Mrs. Rampage is going to do with no one to chase her dog. She now has so much furniture in her cottage that I doubt she can even move around. And to think that not even having met the lady I know SO much about her. Wouldn’t she be surprised. A— and T— have both left for parts unknown. Neither of them will draw a sober breath; only wish that I could be with both of them at the same time. However they are both terrible company except when they are tight. Miss Wicks bade me goodbye a few minutes ago when she was tending the library. Wish that all of the old maids could be as charming as she is. Have instructed Marion to be sure to remember everything to tell me. Rest called on account of Sewanee rain. (Really I am in a fog!)

THE STORY OF THE YEAR

Harvard sends two of its sons into the wilds of Africa; they come back with two lions. Columbia sends four of its sons into the wilds of Mexico, and they come back with marvellous research concerning the tombs of ancient Indians. Yale sends three of its sons into dreary Tibet, and they come back with tales and evidences of a weird people. Sewanee sends three of its sons into the wilds of Florida, and they come back with one hundred and fifty dollars, and tales of a wild party with SIX chorus girls. Harvard may have contributed more to the zoo, Columbia more to the museum, and Yale more to the Encyclopedia Britannica, but nevertheless we feel that Sewanee’s conquest surpasses those of the other institutions. Whoever goes to the zoo, the museum, and the Encyclopedia Britannica anyway? Don’t pop up with the question, “Whoever goes to Florida?” because by next year this time, all Sewanee will have gone.

GUIDE TO BEST SELLERS

I NOSE ALL—By Dick Wilkens and Bud Pearson. This book was written for and dedicated to those possessors of gargantuan appendages situated on the face which make their owners so obvious. Dicus, Watkins, and Lumpkin are mentioned in the book.

THE POLITICIAN'S GUIDE—By Tucker MacKenzie. This short and semi-suave reminiscence of a modern Machiavelli was written by the Mountain's worst and most obvious politician. He lacks the finesse of Rose, the backing of Pearson, and yet does not appear quite so absurd as Holloway. The book's ghost writer as Stewart Hull. We advise embryo politicians to read this to find out what not to do.

PRINCIPLES OF ECO.—By Warren and Wragg (the woeful W's—Three-Strike Wragg emulates Wellford). This book is well written, but without much background. Warren continually brings in the commodity dollar and the Bible. Wragg starts worrying about his German and how to work the dean in the midst of intricate and difficult explanations of his theories. It is not a particularly good book.

MUSICAL MADNESS—By Pete Vreeland in collaboration with P. S. McConnell. This is a real exposé by two men who have been behind the scenes in these troublesome days "après la debacle" (refer to writeup on choir in the organization section). They stand up for Mr. Guerry but sit down on Mr. Hirons; they deplore Wagner but love Stravinsky; they like appropriations for themselves, but wish the CAP AND GOWN got less. This book is not bad. Amusing in spots.

BALD FACTS—By Mueller, Luce and Allgood. The last of the authors has only recently returned to school, but he is eminently suited to write this book. Mueller has been qualified for years, and Luce is well on his way to being an authority on the subject. They advise us not to use patent hair tonics, as they all failed to receive any relief from this source. Passably good.

MIDWINTER MADNESS ON THE MOUNTAIN

1. And the trumpets proclaimed the glory of Joe Saunders, but the piano did not show forth his handiwork.

2. For it was in the days of mud and slush when he was atop the mountain, and the winds did howl greatly.

3. It was in those days that the fair damosels were there decked out in their gorgeous array, and they were sore afraid;

4. For the boys were possessed with an unusual wildness, and they were infested with a drink.

5. And it was in those days that they went unto the place from which the noise did emanate, and it was there that they rejoiced greatly.

6. But there was a certain one among them who knew that trouble was at hand, for he prophesied severely.

7. But the mud and cold had its effects, and they were sore asober.

8. And behold, the rejoicing of that one was so exceeding great that he did allow two of their houses to be opened even in the hour when it was forbidden.

9. And certain other brethren did depart from that land after the rejoicing, and went into a place away from there.

10. And it was there that there lived three women who adored the heathen god, Ale.

11. And it was in that same day that certain ones of the chosen did fall down and worship at the same shrine, not only the young and foolish, but also the wiser elders.

12. When lo! the arm of the law did appear, and they were sore afraid.

13. But the arm was merciful, and they departed back into their own land keeping all these things in their own heart until now when they are exposed.

PROGNOSTICATIONS

*When you were my bashful barefoot beau
And I was your bride in calico,
I wrote on your slate, "I love you so
When we were a couple of kids, yo ho!
In those same old golden rule days
When children's fancies had their ways,
Prophecies oft in sundry manner foretold
Of conquests to come, great and bold,
And so in manner preparatory
Let us turn from this Citadel purgatory
And seek regardless of all the abuse
The now long past High Schoolian muse.*

*For that cosmetic king, Nutty Blair,
We predict support by a wife-millionaire.
Let's take Franklin with leg maritimes
To him the editorship of the New York Times.
Hull, let's not say a parasite,
But be nice and call him socialite.
A gigolo's life is predicted for Miles
According to the report of our files.
As for the editor, Britton Tabor,
The head of the American Union for Labor.
To that Savannah boy, Dinky Sanders,
Life will always just be a bunch o' meanders.
To the Supreme Court will be lent the severe-ness
Of the one who has the nose of debonairness.
Then comes Bud Pearson with the big nose
The bigger the better to sell ladies' hose.
To Craighill and Young we predict the same fate—
Death as martyrs in a desert desolate.
The Mountain Goat's manager, George Biehl,
May some day manage a real automobile.
Hiram Chamberlain, the best dice thrower,
Since the days of the ark, flood, and Noah.
As for Fleet, the boy in the fog,
Some day he'll be a big financial cog.*

*Myers, the man strange and philosophickle
In his love to the bottle will ne'er be fickle.
If Rose is not seized by Houdini the Magician
He will be an ecclesiastical politician.
Warren, the lonely Hoffman buccaneer
Will be a champion tennis raquetteer.
And for Wilkens with his beak,
Foreign trade he will seek.
Russell, the connoisseur of liquors and wines
Will either serve the sentences or pay the fines.
Richard, Phi Gam's Phi Beta Kappa
In 1948 will join Kegga Beer Itappa.
Billy Daniel, who's got plenty of rocks,
All his life will be spent in Interwoven golf socks.
Lear will be a criminal attorney
Making many dollars and cents of morney.
The matronship of Cannon Hall
Will go to Atlee, the man so dark and tall.
In business will be that Gibson shrewd,
If you deal with him, your goose is stewed.
Biddy Smith will be steady and staunch
When into business he does launch.
High in our praises we have not yet sung
Of that future Tilden, Pinkey Young.
Not by a long shot an ordinary rogue,
But a Diamond Jim will be Malcolm Poage.
And last but not least comes Holloway
Soothing the women with his purring way.*

QUESTIONNAIRE

Grand Inquisitor: Why did you come to Sewanee?

Student: Because Mr. Flintoff told me to.

G. I.: Who is Mr. Flintoff?

Stud.: He is the man who has built up Sewanee, conducted 546 successful campaigns for the church, 344 campaigns for local charity organizations, 345 etc., etc. In him lies the future of Sewanee.

G. I.: Who told you this?

Stud.: Mr. Flintoff.

G. I.: Who is Mr. Flintoff's boss?

Stud.: Mr. Flintoff.

G. I.: Who works for Mr. Flintoff?

Stud.: Somebody named Finney.

G. I.: How long has Mr. Flintoff been at Sewanee?

Stud.: Only six months, but he has done more for Sewanee than anyone else ever did.

G. I.: When is he liable to leave?

Stud.: When he so desires.

G. I.: Who found him?

Stud.: Either Finney or some board whose name I have forgotten.

G. I.: Was this a great discovery?

Stud.: Yes, greater than the founding of America, for Mr. Flintoff says that we have found Europe in America at Sewanee.

And so on far, far into the night . . .

DEAR DAD:

I am (not) enjoying school so much. The weather is pleasant (disagreeable). I hope that you and mother are both OK.

Now as to my work, that darn old history prof. just cheated me out of a pass, and it is a known fact that the eco. prof. is a gyp. Mr. Davis told me that I was doing OK in chemistry and then flunked me. I passed Public Speaking, one of our most difficult subjects, with a 90.

Not much news up here except that I will be needing fifty dollars for the dances and fraternity dues.

Your son,
BEN.

Dear Sir:

Enclosed find usual check for twenty dollars ($20.00).

Your father informs me that the family is quite well.

Very sincerely yours,

WHY YOU SHOULD SPEND YOUR WINTER AT SEWANEE

Sewanee, Tenn., located in the heart of the Cumberland Mountains, is undoubtedly one of the best places in all America to spend one's winters. The temperature seldom rises above 40 degrees, and seldom falls more than ten below zero, thereby assuring a great deal of fog, rain, sleet, snow, and hail.

The winter sports are unrivaled in their safety. Since there is no toboggan slide, there is no danger of hurting one's self on a toboggan; since there is no skating rink, there is no danger of eating breakfast off the mantle piece on cold mornings—also because there are very few mantle pieces; since there are no hills smooth enough to ski on, there is no danger, etc., etc., etc. Send your boy to Sewanee for a safe winter.

The heating system is one of America's best. It works provided the radiators are not frozen up, but when the radiators are frozen up, then fires have to be built in the center of the room. This teaches history, for the pupil has thereby direct contact with the way in which people kept warm during the Middle Ages.

There are no leaves on the trees, and thereby the students are insured of having a good view of the stars at night. A movement is being set on foot to have Breslin Tower torn down, because it interferes with the activities of the students in studying the Heavens.

Come and spend your winters at Sewanee. Go back to your home town with a better story than the one that your grandmother tells about the blizzard of 1876. We guarantee the coldest winter that you have ever spent . . . unexcelled anywhere in the United States.

Mr. Long has remarked recently that only in Hoffman does he find the collegiate atmosphere. Three of his visits this year have been during floods, fire-crackers, or bottle-throwings. Small wonder he enjoys Hoffman's collegiate atmosphere.

May we suggest that the reason why Lumpkin's features are thus and so is because he was born in Alaska, and has not yet thawed out?

With the death of Mrs. Mooney comes the passing of one of Sewanee's most colorful figures. Here for more than sixty years, she had become a sort of legendary figure with the boys in the University. One story which showed her sense of humor even in a time of sorrow is this one that is a favorite with Sewanee's raconteurs:

Her oldest son died some distance away from Sewanee, and his body was shipped back to Sewanee for burial. Mrs. Mooney was presented with a rather large bill by the express company, which of course she could not pay, and so she turned to her friends here at Sewanee, but she still found it rather difficult to collect the required amount. Finally she realized that it was just as well that she sit and wait. After two days the express company delivered the body to her, and the burial was carried forth in the proper manner.

The Board of Regents at its February meeting did things, we are informed:

1. Appointed Dr. Finney to name the matron of Magnolia.
2. Deferred action on the football situation until June.
3. Decided that Hoffman does and of a right ought to leak.
4. Deferred action on the matter of St. Luke's showers.
5. Appointed a committee to decide everything about the Gailor Memorial.

A P P R E C I A T I O N

The work is finished, and the last page of the CAP AND GOWN is fittingly to be given over to an acknowledgment of the aid that the staff has received from so many individuals. The entire University by its cooperation and contributions, especially in regard to the snapshot section, has made this publication possible. Members of the Faculty and the Administration have given invaluable information and advice without which a passably good annual could not have been presented.

The President of the German Club, Mr. James Blair, acted in an advisory capacity in the selection of Beauties for the Feature Section.

Major Gass, Major MacKellar, Dr. Finney and Mr. Gordon Clark gave indispensable advice and help in the selection of representative alumni who are featured in this book. Major MacKellar is to be especially thanked for writing the sketches of these men's lives and works.

Mr. Lee Belford, Editor of the 1935 CAP AND GOWN, has so unstintingly given of his time, advice, knowledge, and sympathy, that the book could hardly have appeared without his help.

Dr. DuBose has kindly and with appreciation and great ability written the section devoted to the life of Bishop Gailor.

Mr. Abbott C. Martin very ably assisted the Editor in painstaking redaction of introductory material.

Mr. John T. Benson of Benson Printing Company, Mr. Clyde Bateman of the Capitol Engraving Company, Mr. A. C. Thompson of the University Press, and Mr. Stanley Marques of the Stanley Studios are to be thanked for their excellent cooperation and help in preparing the physical make-up of the CAP AND GOWN.

The entire staff has worked hard and well, and has cooperated with the Editor and the Business Manager on every occasion.

Thus, in conclusion, it might not be amiss to wish that every person who reads this book and thumbs through its pages receives an enjoyment at least inversely proportional to the time, the effort and the activity it has cost.

BRITTON D. TABOR, Editor.

JAMES D. GIBSON, Manager.

Introducing

ADVERTISEMENTS

THE UNIVERSITY OF THE SOUTH

What Sewanee Stands For—

The Education of the Whole Man—

His body, in a physical environment and training almost ideal.

His mind, through courses in a scientifically correct curriculum, and through contact with a faculty strong in scholarship and personality.

His character, through the constant influence of Christianity as expounded and exemplified in the life of the University community.

The Making of a Citizen—

In theory, through the influence of that ideal of patriotism which we call the Sewanee Spirit.

In practice, through the dynamic living as a citizen in a community of which the student body constitutes the citizenship.

Individuality, Originality, Initiative.

Taught to think independently, plan independently, but to act as a community member.
